Mission Impossible – disruptive systems of management

Most leadership assumptions are based on a deterministic view of the world. If you do X you should get Y, process can be employed for most things, and more complicated problems can be analysed to enable better decisions. Whilst these approaches suit the Simple and the Complicated, they do not work so well for the Complex. The Complex needs a different approach the core of which is to enable the organisation being led to be agile and self-organising. Nick Obolensky provides an essential toolkit for the busy leader and manager and will appeal to practitioners wishing to improve their leadership effectiveness. It will also appeal to students and researchers in the field of leadership.

Nick Obolensky

Nick Obolensky has had a varied career in leadership including being a British Army Major, an Executive Consultant in Ernst & Young, a FTSE 100 Associate Director, CEO of various start-ups, and visiting professor of leadership in various blue chip business schools. He has authored various other books, including Complex Adaptive Leadership, now in its second edition
