Samantha Miles
In Collaboration

Wednesday 3rd October 10:30am

New Technology in the Creative Industries

Samantha Miles of In Collaboration hosts businesses with a selection of the latest cutting-edge tech being used and developed for use in the creative industries. See the innovation, learn about new developments and play with some of the best 'tech toys' in the creative industry right now.

Samantha Miles

Samantha Miles is the Co Founder and Creative Director of In Collaboration and owner and designer behind A Thousand Yellow Daisies.

She creates her own series of designs, working alongside other small businesses to produce gorgeous home-wares, stationery and giftware that can be found via Etsy or our Facebook page. Samantha also works freelance on a range of graphic design projects from branding, menu designs, illustration, character design, social media content creation, social media management and creative blogging. In Collaboration is a new online platform dedicated to making collaborative working easier within the creative industries.
